The American Library Association sponsored the webinar and our state has cut ties with that organization because of religious views. The blinds are up in the library. There have been some issues with the minisplit HVAC system and Hartley’s is looking into whether repairs are enough or if a new system needs to be purchased. There have been some issues with the supply room sink and it was repaired. It is time for the library survey to be administered.   - a. Facilities Committee: Amy Koenig presented for the committee. Parker Bourne chose the children’s library for her summer architectural project. Her project pictures were shared with the Board. A sophomore-level Missouri S&T class will use our building for their fall project with Board members attending classes to share information. We will wait until December to formally ask renters to vacate at the end of August 2025. Todd Koenig (building committee member) will draft a plan to put in a drain to alleviate some of the roof issues and present it to the city for their approval.

Vote on building plan: This is tabled until December.

- b. FY24-25 Surplus: Kristi Fleischhauer needs to send our list of ideas to the financial advisor to see what needs to be taxed and what doesn't. There was discussion on not using all the money for staff and adding to the list of ideas: more professional development, increased funds in community projects, or drainage pipe work.
- c. Non-Residency Fee Modification: After the Board approved the fee increase last month Rebecca discovered that there is a recommended tax formula that many libraries use to determine the rate. Our rate with the formula is $27. Thus the increase was changed to $25 instead of $30.

VII. New Business:
